INDIAN TREATIES.

The following are abstracts of the Indian treaties referred to in our report of Monday as having been signed at the council held on Saturday last.

Signature of the treaty between the United States and the confederated tribes of the Sac and Fox of the Mississippi, by their chiefs and delegates.

The Sac and Fox cede 1,200,000 acres of their land, lying west, and adjoining the tract conveyed by them to the United States in 1830. The points of termination to be the northern and southern points of said tract, as fixed by the survey made by the United States. A line is to be drawn between them, so as to intersect a line extended westwardly from the single nearly opposite Rock Island. It is estimated that the line will be about 30 miles.

The Sac and Fox cede all right or interest in the land ceded by them in July, 1830, which might be claimed by them under the provisions of the first article of said treaty. The United States agree to the following stipulations:

To pay the just debts of the confederated tribes in the amount of $100,000.

To deliver their goods at cost, valued at their wants to the amount of $25,000.

The expense in carrying the mail, and for the support of two million 5,000,000.

To expend in building and fencing, and for other beneficial purposes, to the amount of $500,000 a year, for two years.

To supply with provisions, to the amount of $500,000 a year, for two years.

To purchase of horses and provisions, to be delivered at St. Louis, $50,000.

To invest $200,000 in stocks, bonds, and other securities, to be held for the benefit of the Indians, and to be paid out, year by year, to be made in money or goods, for the education of the children of the Indians, and to be paid out, year by year, to be made in money or goods, for the education of the children of the Indians.

The two blacksmiths and the gunsmiths' establishments, to which the Sac and Fox are entitled under the treaty, shall be removed to the new site, and be supported in the country removed by them.

The Sac and Fox to remove from the ceded tract in eight months from the ratification of the treaty. No Indian to remain in possession of the village for two years after the ratification of the treaty.

The expense of this negotiation, and of the chiefs and delegates to and from Washington city, to be paid by the United States.
